NO SUBJECT of general interest, from the dawn of creation to the present day HAS BEEN OMITTED.

Along with other leading newspapers of the country has taken over the distribution of this new educational work because it is the latest authentic record of universal knowledge, and for that reason everybody should have it for everyday reference.

How We Can Do lt

Advanced methods of book making and quantity production made possible this distribution through newspapers at a less expense for the complete new set than is usually asked, for one reference volume.

The illustrious Dr. Johnson said: "Knowledge is of two kinds: We know a subject ourselves, or we know where we can find information upon it." Where is the man, woman, or school child who is not in daily need of information on many subjects, any one of which may lead to success-to power-to a life of great achievements!

From The Advertisers' Weekly

"What The Atlanta Constitution Means to the Advertiser"

"A great morning newspaper which for over fifty years has courageously stood for all that was dearest to the worth-while people of its community."

BY JASON ROGERS, in "The Advertisers' Weekly."

Amid the chaos that followed the great Civil War of 1861-65, when conditions about Atlanta probably were as hopeless as they recently have been in parts of Europe after the great world war, a far-seeing man of constructive vision-Col. Carey W. Styles, conceived the idea that the best way to produce normalcy was through the founding and publication of a newspaper of purpose.

None of us of the present day can accurately conceive the deplorable condition of the south in 1868 when THE ATLANTA CONSTITU-TION was started. It was created to restore constitutional government in Georgia, to free the situation from the control of negroes, carpetbaggers and what would now be called "bolsheviks." Even Russia of the post-war period was little worse.

Styles very appropriately called his newspaper THE CONSTITUTION. He edited the newspaper for one year and then gave way to others who carried on.

After a three years' struggle THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION won the battle after the war, which cleaned up negro and carpetbagger control and restored constitutional government to the white people.

To those of us of the north, and particularly to the younger generations among us, the danger and impossibility of enduring negro domination and the necessity for the control of social conditions by the white people in the south, can hardly be appreciated.

I am familiar with the south and the better type of southern people and have a deep appreciation for their sensibilities, and what a staunch supporter of what is dearest to them, such as THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION has been, means to them.

In a social condition where newspapers are willing to pander to the unthinking for the sole purpose of amassing circulation, which are patronized by business men whose only God is the Dollar, the course of THE CONSTITU-TION has not always been as happy and prosperous as it is today.

THE CONSTITUTION is more than a newspaper, it is a great institution built upthrough generations of loyal service to all that has been best for its followers. It stands as a tower of strength behind those of the better class possessed of soundest views about the development of their section of the country.

It is a great heritage that has come to Clark Howell, who has been editor and general manager of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION for more than a quarter of a century.

I have known THE CONSTITUTION for over forty years, under Howell's father, under Hemphill and under Grady. I have visited Atlanta many times and seen Clark Howell in his proper setting, as it were, among an army of friends who realize what he and his newspaper has meant and continues to mean to them.

There are other newspapers of great influence in the community and that section of the country with Atlanta as its center, many of them which have stood just as staunchly for the right as the people there see it, but THE CONSTITUTION stands out as the great beacon light and as the Big Brother.

To have gone through all of its early troublous times and to have been so instrumental in making its city one of the leading business centers of the old south, is a worth-while record for any newspaper, and that is what underlies the meaning of THE CONSTITUTION.

Atlanta was the first southern city to assume the proportions of go-aheadness of the north. In 1870, two years after THE CONSTI-TUTION was founded, it had 21,789 people. In 1920 it had 200,216 population and was the center of a trading zone representing 1,-300,000 people.

To get the cross section of Atlanta, one must include in his field of research a great part of the state of Georgia, for much of the wholesale and retail trade of the state flows to and from the big industrial center.

In Georgia 727,859 of its people live in cities of 2,500 or more population and 2,167,975 live in rural places. Some 1,128,742 of its population are engaged in gainful occupation: 840,409 males and 288,333 females. By color Georgia stands 1,689,114 white and 1,206,-365 negro.

In total wealth, as established by the Census for 1922, Georgia is rated at $3,896,759,000 as compared with $2,117,410,000 in 1912. It is divided into three general classifications:

Real estate (taxed)$1,783,798,000 Real estate (untaxed) .. 170,938,000 Live stock on farms.... 101,768,000 Farm implements 39,908,000 Manufacturing implements 159,411,000 Railway equipment 319,619,000 Private transportation . . 169,170,000 Stock of goods other than furniture and clothing 1,098,762,000 Motor vehicles 53,482,000 Per capita wealth 1,306

Farming is the greatest industry in Georgia. There are 310,732 farms worked by 94,575 owners and 206,954 tenant farmers. The total population dependent on farming is 1,685,-213, or 58 per cent. Gross farm products for 1919 were $638,430,000, the second largest of any of the southern states.

The total value of all farm property is $1,-356,685,000 and farm mortgages were $37,-671,000. Crop values for 1920 were $540,-613,000 or $2,020 per farm.

From a manufacturing standpoint Georgia is very prosperous. Capital invested in manufacturing totals $448,700,000. A total of 141,012 people are engaged in manufacturing, of whom 123,441 are wage earners who drew-$101,965,000 in pay roll or an average of $830 per capita. Total value of manufactured product was $693,237,000, and the gross manufacturing product was $127,000,000, as compared with $43,000,000 in 1912.

Atlanta, with 200,616 population, contains 26,830 of the total 62,719 personal income tax returns for 1921 filed in the state of Georgia with 2,895,832 population. The percentage of population filing returns in Atlanta was 12.40 as compared with 2.34 for the state.

The net income reported in Georgia in personal returns was $180,311,000 on which a tax of $3,892,000 was paid or $1.34 per capita. Gross corporation income was $412,283,000 on which $4,409,000 in taxes were paid.

Considered from any standpoint Atlanta is one of the most enterprising and prosperous of the big cities of the old south. It outranks either New Orleans or Birmingham in percentage of personal income tax returns filed and is a market well worth the consideration of the manufacturer seeking increased sales for his

In Atlanta with its 200,616 population or 44,000 families of which probably 40 per cent are colored, THE ATLANTA CONSTITU-TION sells 33,453 copies a day, or provides probably a 100 per cent cover of worth-while

THE CONSTITUTION sells 61,759 copies a day, 50,202 in Atlanta and its surburbs and 11,344 in surrounding country. Its milline general advertising rate is $2.10 as compared with $3.05 the average of all daily newspapers in the country. Its Sunday circulation is 75,771.*

THE CONSTITUTION is the only morning newspaper in its field and, as such, exercises a dominant influence which is vastly greater than its circulation figures would indicate. It is a wonderfully sound and sane newspaper. It is carefully edited and prints all of the important news of the day from all over the world. Such a newspaper is broader in its vision as a rule than our dailies in the north.

As I have stated in articles regarding newspaper advertising the purchasing power of the southern cities is just as great per capita as those in the north as checked up by income tax returns. If 200,616 people in Atlanta file 26,-830 income tax returns for a 12.40 per cent rating, there remain in Georgia 2,695,216 people who file 35,889 returns or only 1.3 per Macon, Savannah, Augusta and Decatur, other Georgia cities, show close to 10 per cent efficiency, so the average for the rest of the state must be less than one per cent. It is thus that our newspapers printed in our cities covering them intensively produce an automatic method for reaching those of greatest purchasing power.

*The net paid circulation for the six months ending March 31, 1924, was: daily, 63,214: Sunday, 83,923. Mr. Rogers evidently secured his figures from an old circulation report.

In half an hour you can see a mouth become soft and sweet, or putally ugly come soft and sweet, or britially ugly, and cruel, according as the conversation changes and various sides of character come out. This chat, however, is not to be a mermon. I merely want to point out that you cannot have an ugly disposition and a pretty mouth. You can be a double-dyed villain in a great many respects and your face will not show it but your mouth always will, to those having in telligence enough to read character from the expression.

telligence enough to read character from the expression.

There are many people, however, who have developed unfortenate little facial tricks which give a tetally false expression to the mouth. Some people lite the lips, which, after some years, is bound to make them this and ugly. Some people have a habit of drawing the lips in, which seems to sink the mouth back into the face. Some people have a habit of pushing the lips forward, which quite ruins the expression of the face. Watch your self in the mirror and see whether you possess these or other unfortunate little tricks.

you possess these or other unfor-tunate little tricks.

Bad adenoids and tonsils, by caus-ing improper breathing, change the entire expression of the wouth and jaw and give a curiously stupid look to the face. In fact, the consils and adenoids are very bad with a child it can actually change the shape of the face and do life-long damage. When some of our public schools and health centers began insisting on eperations for this difficulty they found by tak-ing photographs then and a year ing photographs then and a year later that the shape of the face had actually changed for the better when the trouble was cured.

The one feature in the face that reveals character more than any other is the mouth, and it is the one feature about which practically nothing can be done, that is, in an externat physical way. You are what your mouth says you are: petty, avaricious, generous, sympathetic, sensual bad tempered.

You can change your mouth by changing your character. If you do not believe that this is possible make a study of mouths. Notice how different their expression will be according to the mood of the moment. In half an hour you can see a mouth become soft and sweet, or crutally ugit.

Are your lips attractive?

Long Siege of Low Prices For Cotton Rounds Corner

New Orleans, La., April 6.—The further delayed the planting of the past week has in the opinion of most traders witnessed the turning of the chester advices, a growing appreciation of the strength of the statistical corner from a long siege of declining prices into a period of recovery. The May delivery reached its lowest price for the season on Thursday of last week, when it traded as low as 26.60. In yesterday's brief Saturday session May advanced to 31.14, a recovery in a little more than a week of 4.54 points, or $22.50 a bate.

Of course, so considerable an advance was accompanied by very active trading sud rather wide fluctuations, as the recovery was not accomplished without stubborn resistance on the part of the interests opposed to an advancing market at the present time, but every dip was followed by rallies constantly increasing in scope until the thoroughly frightened shorts started to cover freely and found contracts scarce and consequently had to hid the market up rapidly in baying back what they had sold.

Chester advices, a growing appreciation of the strength of the staristical position and a revival of the demand for dry goods.

Manchester, which but a short time active business, with a broad demand resorting to short time, now reports active business, with a broad demand predicts that all mills win soon to running full time if the scarcity of labor permits. On this side of the Atlantic, dry goods buyers, who for so long restricted themsefves to a hand to mouth policy, have suddenly commenced to buy in large lots, and heavy sales of cotton goods were reported in New York during the last few days, totaling in the neighborhood of half a million pieces. Fall River also reports sales of 100.000 to be soon and the part of the demand for dry goods.

Car loading figures for the week ending March 22 disclosed another slight decrease compared with the previous week. For the first time since early in the year the total was smaller than for the corresponding week of 1923.

These decreases were attributed to a sharp slackening in car loadings.

FOREIGN FARMERS OUTDO NATIVES

Germany furnished the bulk of the 106 foreign-born farmers out of every thousand white farmers in 1920. Danish farmers cultivated 5.149.000 acres, equal to more than half the area of their native country. German farmers tilled, an acreage equal to 19 per cent of the total pre-war area of Germany furnished.

DR. BROWN PREACHES ON 'HOW CHRIST WON'

In telling his audience Sunday
"How Christ Won." Dr. Russell
Brown, pastor of the First Congregational church, said, "His pathos, tenderness, magnetic personality and sacrificial spirit won friends to Him and to His cause. Christ championed the cause of the helpless."

Dr. Brown urged his hearers to imitate Him who went through suffering, trials and hardships and kept a sweet spirit. He told the young people that Christ's love, like their mather's, was best understood in the light

's, was best understo sacrificial service.

The Vamp of Puptown

SHE'S the main Sheba of the whole canine colony and you'll want her just from looking at this picture of her. She is the Snuggle Pup model to be given away by The Constitution all this week to winners of the Snuggle Pup Frolics published each day of the week in The Constitution. She's the vampiest thing you ever saw, a descendant of Cleopatra's own lapdog of the old Egyptian days. And that hat—can't you just see the very dickens in her from the rakish angle at which she wears that bonnet? You'll have oodles of fun with this Snuggle Pup. She'll amuse you for hours if you do nothing more than sit and look at her and watch that vampish expression on her face.

Collects in Advance, Forgets To Deliver; Police Start Search

Huntsville, Ala., April 6.—(Special.)—W. M. Brown, representing himself to be a traveling shoe salesman, is sought by police on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Brown made a canvass in the residential sections, it is claimed taking orders for sample shoes which he offered very cheaply, and required a deposit of $1 from each customer. It is charged that he secured a large number of orders and never made any delivery. He claimed that the shoes were stored in a sample room in a lecal hotel, but since his disappearance no trace of any such shoes has been found.

COMRADE CLUB GIVES PROGRAM FOR BOYS

The boys' meeting at the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon was featured with a splendid program rendered by the Comrade club at Morehouse college under leadership and direction of Professor C. E. Warner. The program consisted of violin, cornet, piano, vocal solos and choruses by the entire club. This department of the "Y" has a large riembership, and through the weekly meetings a special effort is made to help the boy in his life.

The program for the spring festival which will be held at the "Y" three nights. April 14, 15, and 16, will be one of the best of the year. The first night will be insurance night, the second hotel men's night, and the third, teachers' night.
